GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY

Course: ECON 121 - Economic Statistics
Term: Summer 2017
Level: Undergraduate
Instructor: Umberto Muratori

[5] - Outstanding [4] - Very Good [3] - Good [2] - Fair [1] - Poor

Course Evaluation

	Mean	Median	Mode
To what degree were the objectives of the course met?	3.91	4.00	5.00
How effective were the readings?	3.89	5.00	5.00
Did the exams represent the content taught in the course?	4.00	5.00	5.00
Were you graded fairly?	4.09	5.00	5.00
Did the recitations add value to the course?	3.86	4.00	5.00
How much did you learn in course?	3.91	4.00	5.00

Instructor Evaluation

	Mean	Median	Mode
Is the instructor seem consistently well prepared?	4.09	4.00	5.00
Is the quality of classroom presentation stimulating?	3.27	4.00	4.00
Is the instructor available outside of class?	5.00	5.00	5.00
Does the instructor establish high standards?	4.18	5.00	5.00
What is your overall evaluation of the instructor?	3.91	4.00	5.00

Selected Comments

- A great professor always willing to put forth time over foundations of econometrics and derivations!
- Sometimes moved through slides before notes could be copied, but besides that, good experience.
- To be fair, this is a difficult course to teach as a first-time instructor, especially given the quick pace.